SUN

A global range of skincare that truly cares

Complementing
your therapy for comprehensive skin care management the right way

The first step is to know your skin type

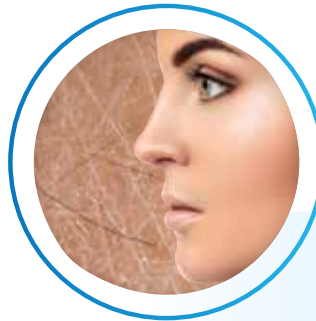

The first step is to know your skin type

OILY SKIN

Such skin usually gets shiny or greasy pretty quickly because it produces extra oil, which can eventually clog pores, attract germs, and cause acne. If this is your skin type, fight the urge to pop or prick your pimples!

COMBINATION SKIN

Such skin is usually dry or normal in some areas but oily in the T-zone (the forehead, nose and chin area of your face). If this is your skin type, you might be struggling with enlarged pores, blackheads, and some grease and shine along your T-zone².

DRY OR VERY DRY SKIN

Such skin does not hold oil and moisture well. It feels tight and can become rough, itchy, and flaky.
